African Americans in U.S. Politics: 150 Years
The Detroit Public Library has published its African American Booklist for 52 years. This bibliography provides a selected list of books by and/or about African Americans. The works of fiction and nonfiction for adults, children and young adults were reviewed and recommended by librarians of the Detroit Public Library.

The African American Booklist began as a way to commemorate Black History Month and since that time has continued to feature the accomplishments of African Americans in the literary world. Our booklist has become an annual tradition in the community and continues to be a highly anticipated publication for book lovers all across the nation.

JUVENILE-TEENS SELECTION COMMITTEE

Stephanie Fazekas-Hardy
Chairperson

Dorothy Hamilton
Co-Chairperson

Lurine Carter
Mary Masasabi
Chinyere Olumba

ADULT LITERATURE SELECTION COMMITTEE

Stacy Brooks
Co-Chairperson

Christine Peele
Co-Chairperson

Vickie Baker
Taneca Chapman Mills
Kalana Cooper
Sean Marshall
Tracey Massey

AFRICAN AMERICAN BOOKLIST PRODUCTION

Khamisi Benford
Kathryn Dowgieicz
A.J. Funchess
Alma Simmons

---

Cover Art:

TABLE OF CONTENTS

BLACK NATIONAL ANTHEM 4
FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR 5
MAYOR COLEMAN A. YOUNG: A LEGACY OF LEADERSHIP 7
AFRICAN AMERICANS IN U.S. POLITICS: 150 YEARS 10
DARK SKY RISING: SELECTED SOURCES 25
YOUTH BOOKS 31
BEST OF FICTION 2019 38
FICTION 39
BEST OF NON-FICTION 2019 44
NON-FICTION 45
ART, MUSIC & POETRY 45
BIOGRAPHY 46
BUSINESS/FINANCE 48
COOKING 49
HEALTH/SCIENCE 50
HISTORY 50
INSPIRATIONAL/RELIGION 51
POLITICAL/SOCIAL SCIENCES 52
RELATIONSHIPS 53
SPORTS AND RECREATION 53
FORTHCOMING TITLES 2020 55
OUR MISSION 57
LIFT EV’RY VOICE AND SING

Lyrics by: James Weldon Johnson
(1871-1938)

Lift every voice and sing
Till earth and heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of Liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise
High as the listening skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us,
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us,
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun
Let us march on till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod,
Bitter the chastening rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat,
Have not our weary feet
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered,
We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered,
Out from the gloomy past,
Till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years,
God of our silent tears,
Thou who has brought us thus far on the way;
Thou who has by Thy might
Led us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we met Thee,
Lest our hearts drunk with the wine of the world, we forget Thee;
Shadowed beneath Thy hand,
May we forever stand.
True to our God,
True to our native land.
FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

A presidential election will be held in November 2020, and this year is also the 150th anniversary of the Reconstruction Era (1870-1877). For these reasons, our 2020 African American Booklist focuses in part on when and where African Americans entered the historical record as elected officials.

Dr. Dianne Pinderhughes’ enlightening essay chronicles the lives of many African American politicians who played major roles in reshaping American politics during the past 150 years. Dr. Pinderhughes is the University of Notre Dame Presidential Faculty Fellow, and Professor in the Department of Africana Studies and the Department of Political Science. In 2014, she co-authored “Uneven Roads: An Introduction to US Racial and Ethnic Politics” and in 2016, she co-authored Contested Transformation: Race, Gender, and Political Leadership in 21st Century America.

On the subject of Reconstruction and beyond, Dr. Henry Louis Gates Jr., the Alphonse Fletcher University Professor and Director of the Hutchins Center for African and African American Research at Harvard University, has contributed an extensive bibliography. Dr. Gates’ documentary “Reconstruction: America after the Civil War,” earned rave reviews in 2019 when it was presented on PBS. Additionally, Stony the Road: Reconstruction, White Supremacy, and the Rise of Jim Crow and Dark Sky Rising: Reconstruction and the Dawn of Jim Crow with Tonya Bolden, his two books on the subject, were published in 2019.

Detroit has a rich history of African Americans’ involvement in national and local politics. Indeed, Detroit's Congressmen Charles C. Diggs Jr., and John Conyers Jr., were among the original founders of the Congressional Black Caucus in 1971. In the 1880s, Samuel C. Watson was the first African American elected to the Detroit City Council. It would be 75 years later before another African American, William T. Patrick, was elected to Council in 1957. Erma Henderson was the first African American woman elected to Council in 1972.

Locally, there’s no more significant figure than Detroit’s first African American mayor, Coleman Alexander Young, who served from 1973-1992. The essay by Khary Kimani Turner, the executive director of the Coleman A. Young Foundation, is a reflection on Mayor Young’s leadership. He writes, “Coleman Young, like him or not, was remarkable. And his legacy is a template for anyone who desires to lead passionately, and unapologetically.”

I deeply appreciate the fine work of the many librarians who recommended the best of 2019 fiction and non-fiction, and for the devoted editing and design team. Please visit your favorite DPL location to check out the huge selection of titles. While some readers prefer traditional books, others are committed to e-books or audio books. Whatever your preference, just keep reading!

Jo Anne G. Mondowney
Executive Director
Mayor Coleman A. Young: A Legacy of Leadership

By Khary Kimani Turner

Mayor Coleman Alexander Young was the right leader for Detroit, at the right time. He moved the city into an era of surging African-American population and political power. His own struggles with racism and his progressive organizing, facilitated a keen concern for justice, equity and inclusion for Detroiter, particularly its oppressed classes. Born in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, in 1918, to a barber (father) and a teacher (mother), his family moved to Detroit in 1923. He graduated second in his class from Eastern High School and, soon after, was accepted to the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

U of M offered Young an academic scholarship, but rescinded its offer of room and board after learning that he was black. He declined to enroll. Later, he was drafted to serve in the armed forces during World War II. He became a lieutenant, and a member of the iconic Tuskegee Airmen. Young was arrested, along with 100 other black officers, for trying to integrate an all-white officers club.

The war ended, and the federal government began monitoring Young’s organizing activity. In 1952, he was ordered to appear before the House Un-American Activities Committee. He became the first witness to confront the committee, and his testimony was broadcast on radio. This made him a hero.

It also got him blacklisted. For years, he struggled to find work. He drove a cab, worked as a dry cleaner, and a wall washer. He couldn’t afford adequate healthcare and, without it, his pregnant wife Marion miscarried their child. Their marriage soon after collapsed.

“Politics might be described as the art of getting along with people in group and amassing enough people on your side to advance in a given direction at a given moment, or failing to do so, losing you’re a*s at a given moment.”

Young entered into politics in the 1960s, was elected to the Michigan State Senate in 1964, and became Detroit’s first African-American mayor in 1973. He immediately resolved to cure the city of police brutality issues that led to the 1967 Rebellion, and integrating the city’s police and fire departments were among his first accomplishments. This signaled a new day, one driven by bold decisions, bolder pronouncements, and contentious relations with the surrounding suburbs, and the press. But Detroiter had a leader who looked, and lived, like them. And they loved him.

Mayor Young had little respect or patience for spin when it came to race, or issues that hurt the middle class. He practiced fairness and inclusion whether or not the cameras were trained on him. His administration still stands as the most diverse the city of Detroit has seen. His own security detail always consisted of equal numbers of black and white officers. He appointed more women to his administration than any mayor before him.

The Detroit in which we live today can trace the seeds of its growth to some of Mayor Young’s initiatives. Convincing the late Mike Ilitch to purchase and renovate the Fox Theater, and then move his Little Caesars pizza headquarters there, instead of to the suburbs, made the Fox the cornerstone of a reestablished entertainment district. Today, Detroit’s is among the largest such districts east of the Mississippi. All three of its major sports franchises – the Detroit Pistons, Tigers and Lions – play today in separate stadiums located within three blocks of one another. And a host of performance venues, parks, restaurants, businesses large and small, ice skating rinks, and more, make it a walkable environment.

Similarly, Mayor Young convinced the Detroit Red Wings to stay in the city by pitching a new arena. He then pulled money from the city’s surplus and, without financing in place, dug a small crater on the city’s riverfront. Joe Louis Arena ended up filling that hole. He later did the same thing after deciding that a new African American Museum, located then on Frederick Street, in the city’s cultural district, was too small. Under the same financial circumstances, the Mayor backed the digging of another hole, one block south, on Warren Avenue. The Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History was built there, and it was the largest institution of its kind until the National Museum of African American History and Culture opened in Washington D.C. in 2016.
Mayor Young’s steely resolve sometimes persevered in spite of his own base. The Dodge Main Plant on East Jefferson Avenue was built despite a great deal of community opposition. Resident concerns were understandable. Building the plant meant razing schools, churches, homes, uprooting and relocating people who had lived in the area for decades. How do you, in a time before social media and analytics, explain to an entire neighborhood data that predicts up to 30 years of economic decline and joblessness if some form of industry is not established in the area? The plant employed 3,000 people. The Chevy Volt was made there, and said decline was avoided.

The Detroit Free Press absolved Young of its past rancor when it published an exhaustive 2015 study titled, “How Detroit Went Broke: The answers may surprise you - and don’t blame Coleman Young.” The report used data to show that Young was the most fiscally responsible Mayor in the 20th century, and the only one in that timeframe to leave Detroit with a budget surplus.

Interestingly, one of his greatest achievements never garnered the same headlines as the rumors. Mayor Young decided in 1982, ten years before leaving office, to essentially give his wealth, approximately $3 million, away. He established the Coleman A. Young Endowed Chair at Wayne State University, with a portion of it. Today, the Chair operates in Wayne’s Urban Studies department.

He also established Coleman A. Young Foundation. Since its founding, also in 1982, the non-profit has developed leadership among Detroit youth through scholarships, mentoring and other supports for their personal growth. The organization awards scholarships valued up to $22,000, and then mentors recipients until they graduate from college.

The late Bob Berg, Mayor Young’s press secretary during his second decade in office, said that Young, sitting at a table during one of CAYF’s early scholarship banquets, leaned toward a colleague and said, “Of all the things I have done, I think this might be the best thing I accomplished.” More than 500 college graduates, and more than 3,000 youth, might agree.

Coleman Young, like him or not, was remarkable. And his legacy is a template for anyone who desires to lead passionately, and unapologetically.

Khary Kimani Turner is the Executive Director of the Coleman A. Young Foundation.
African Americans in U.S. Politics: 150 Years

by Dianne M. Pinderhughes, PhD

INTRODUCTION

The essay for this year’s African American Booklist explores the complex framework within which African American politics operate. In this 150th Anniversary of the passage of the 15th Amendment, the last of the post-Civil War Constitutional Amendments, the nation faces the 2020 presidential election. After the centuries of slavery and de jure segregation, as well as the challenges and successes of the 20th century Civil Rights Movement and 1960s civil rights legislation, the transition to the exciting years of an African American presidency was remarkable for most African American political observers.

African American partisan politics has undergone dramatic transitions from the 19th to the mid-20th century. Blacks, long affiliated with the Party of Lincoln, began the shift toward the Democratic Party as President Franklin Roosevelt created the social welfare policies that Lyndon Johnson’s support for the 1965 Voting Rights Act and War on Poverty completed. Johnson’s support for electoral and social welfare reform simultaneously led to the migration of southern whites and northern immigrants out of the Democratic party, and into affiliation with an increasingly conservative Republican Party in the late 20th and early 21st centuries.

The essay is organized to review the Reconstruction period, 20th century electoral politics and election to office, 21st century black elected officials and concludes with a discussion of 2020 presidential politics and 21st century challenges.
THE RECONSTRUCTION PERIOD: 1867 - 1877 AND ITS AFTERMATH

The years and decades of post-Civil War Reconstruction laid the foundation for electoral change and political participation by African Americans. The passage of the Civil War Constitutional Amendments, the 13th Amendment in 1865, the 14th Amendment in 1868, and the 15th Amendment in 1870, along with the Civil Rights Act of 1866, provided a framework for radically reforming the American political environment. The 13th Amendment declared slavery illegal throughout the United States. The 14th Amendment established citizenship for all including those formerly enslaved, and the 15th Amendment prevented state governments from denying the right to vote by race. These changes led to the first generation of black elected officials in the United States.

Reconstruction era laws racially democratized, or attempted to democratize, Southern society and politics from its aristocratic and elitist bearings by passing voter and other citizenship laws that were race-neutral. In a number of ways, it involved or mobilized large numbers of African Americans in processes that permitted them to deliberate and to make decisions about their futures at levels heretofore not possible. Union leagues were social and civic organizations partly comprised of veterans that recruited blacks to support the Republican Party and to use their newly won right to vote. Black political conventions and assemblies were held in a number of states and locales. They often included men and women and, both formally and informally, debated prospective state constitutional revisions among other measures.

Because of this widespread black mobilization, the size of Reconstruction-era black populations (in three states blacks comprised a majority of eligible voters), as well as the temporary denial of the vote to white ex-confederates who had not yet sworn loyalty to the Union, black voters elected an unprecedented 1,465 black men to public office between 1867 and 1877. The journey of African American political freedom has many twists and turns; more blacks held office in the U.S. in 1873 than ninety years later in 1963. The African Americans elected to the U.S. Congress represented the southern states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Virginia. The range of offices held under Reconstruction years (1867-77) is impressive. Fourteen blacks were elected to Congress, one African American (Hiram Revels of Mississippi) served as a U.S. Senator. One African American (P.B.S. Pinchback of Louisiana) served briefly as governor of Louisiana and six served as lieutenant governors. In Mississippi and South Carolina, a majority of the state legislatures were black for a time, including 112 senators and 683 representatives. Four blacks served as state superintendents of education.
and at least one (Jonathan Wright of South Carolina) sat upon a state supreme court. There were 41 black sheriffs, 5 black mayors, 31 black coroners, and even 4 black police chiefs. Black state legislators discussed and attempted to enact a number of reforms in these states including compulsory public education for the first time, land reforms that would redistribute former plantation properties, and civil rights laws. More often than not, their proposals and actions were blocked or reversed by white lawmakers who regained state political control as well as by federal officials who did not enforce fairness. ¹

The end of black representation occurred because of the end of national level protections of the post-Civil War policies related to federal reconstruction, marked most dramatically by the compromise over the 1876 presidential election. A second factor was the restructuring of southern state constitutions beginning in the 1880s. The state constitutions were rewritten to create barriers to black political participation without specifically limiting participation by race, and thereby violating the Civil War Constitutional Amendments. The grandfather clause, poll taxes, literacy tests, complicated and inconsistent voter registration procedures, and a variety of procedures that were ‘race neutral’ had the intended effect of limiting black registration and electoral participation, but also exerted a dramatic change in black electoral participation. The combination of withdrawal of support for black political participation by the federal government, and the creation and imposition of state constitutional constraints on black voter registration and participation, eliminated black voters’ influence on electoral involvement, and for election to local, state and national office by the end of the 19th century. It was not until large numbers of African Americans began to settle in northern cities such as Chicago and New York, that new African American congressional representatives were elected. Why was this period important? Who were these first Black Representatives and the first Black Senator at the National Level?

The only senator of this era was Hiram Revels of Mississippi who served from 1869 - 1871. Revels had been elected to the Mississippi State Senate after the war; the primary task for the State Senate was to elect representatives to the U.S. Senate, since direct election of senators (17th Amendment) wasn’t implemented until 1913. Revels was a free man born of free parents; he was ordained in the AME Church in 1845, elected into the AME Indiana Conference in 1849, and attended Knox College from 1855-57. He ran for the Mississippi State Senate in 1869. Elected by the Mississippi State Senate to serve in the U.S. Senate, the Senate “voted 48-8 to seat Revels, who subsequently received assignments to the Committee on Education and Labor...

¹ The text for the previous two paragraphs is drawn from Shaw, DeSipio, Pinderhughes and Travis, Uneven Roads, An Introduction to US Racial and Ethnic Politics. 2nd Edition. Sage CQ Press, 2019, 100-102. Data on 19th century elected officials in these paragraphs is from Foner, Reconstruction: America's Unfinished Revolution, 1863-1877, 281-91.
and the Committee on the District of Columbia.”² He served until March 1871, after which he became President of Alcorn University, the first land-grant for black students. He also pastored an AME Church in Holly Springs, Mississippi.

John Roy Lynch, also of Mississippi, served three terms in Congress and had encouraged Hiram Revels to run for office. He was mixed race (his father was an Irish immigrant and his mother described as “a mulatto slave.”) Named justice of the peace after the war, he served in the Mississippi State House of Representatives in 1869, and in 1872 was elected speaker of the house at age 24. He was elected to a seat representing the southern quarter of the state, including Natchez. He served on the Committee on Mines and Committee on Expenditures in the Interior Department. He was a strong supporter of the Civil Rights Bill of 1875, which passed. Lynch was defeated in his next race, after the Democrats redistricted and placed most of the Republicans in a narrow “shoestring district” along the Mississippi, thereby reducing the likelihood of his re-election. Yet he won re-election to the 47th Congress after a highly contested election and Lynch’s appeal to the Committee on Elections. During his terms of office, he proposed legislation “to reimburse depositors who lost money when the Freedmen’s Savings and Trust Company failed…but it died in the House Rules Committee.” Lynch failed to win election afterwards, but remained active in the Republican Party. The McKinley “administration appointed him a major in the US Army and paymaster of volunteers in the Spanish-American War. …[He also served] in Cuba, San Francisco, Hawaii and the Philippines.”³

Joseph Hayne Rainey of South Carolina was the first African American who served in the U.S. House, and served for five Congressional terms. “Born into slavery, Joseph Rainey was the first African American to serve in the U.S. House of Representatives, the first African American to preside over the House, and the longest-serving African American during the tumultuous Reconstruction period.”⁴

Rainey’s father, a barber, was legally allowed to “work independently if he shared some of his profits” with his owner. He bought the “family’s freedom in the early 1840s, and in 1846 the family moved [from Georgetown] to Charleston, South Carolina, where Edward became a barber at the exclusive Mills House Hotel.” Joseph married a free woman from Philadelphia and

² Hiram Revels. United States House of Representatives. Black Americans in Congress https://history.house.gov/People/
⁴ Joseph Hayne Rainey. United States House of Representatives Black Americans in Congress.
had three children. Rainey served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War, but he and his wife escaped to Bermuda where they ran businesses until the end of the war when they returned to Charleston, and eventually moved to Georgetown, S.C., his birthplace. He quickly became politically active, as the Republican county chairman, in the 1868 state constitutional convention, as a census taker, and was elected to the state senate in 1870. He was nominated and elected to the U.S. House after an incumbent resigned in the wake of “having been charged with selling appointments to U.S. military academies.” He was elected to five terms from the 41st through the 45th Congress, although his later re-elections were frequently challenged because of conflicts in the conduct of elections within the state of South Carolina.

Rainey served on committees on Freedmen's Affairs, Indian Affairs and Invalid Pensions, as well as select committees on the Centennial Celebration, the Freedmen’s Bank, and the Committee for the proposed National Census of 1875. He supported Sen. Charles Sumner’s Civil Rights Bill of 1875, which among other elements “outlawed racial discrimination on juries, in schools, on transportation, and in public accommodations.” He retired from Congress March 3, 1879 after he was defeated by Democrat John Richardson for election to the 46th Congress after the end of federal support for reconstruction.5

Robert Smalls was born a slave in Beaufort, South Carolina where he initially worked in his slave master’s house until he was moved to Charleston. There he was “hired out on the waterfront as a lamplighter, stevedore, foreman, sail maker, rigger, and sailor, and became an expert navigator of the South Carolina and Georgia coasts.”6 Smalls and Hannah Jones married in 1856, and had three children. During the Civil War, Smalls was drafted into service by the Confederacy “aboard the Planter, an ammunitions transport ship…On May 13, 1862 a black crew captained by Smalls hijacked the well-stocked ship and turned it over to the Union Navy.” Afterwards “Smalls spent the remainder of the war balancing his roles as a spokesperson for African Americans with his service in the Union Armed Forces. Smalls used his intimate knowledge of the South Carolina Sea Islands to advance the Union military campaign in nearly 17 engagements.”7

5 All quotations from “Biography” Joseph Hayne Rainey 1832-1887’ Black Americans in Congress 1870-Present, URL: https://history.house.gov/
6 Robert Smalls, United States House of Representatives, Black Americans in Congress.
7 Robert Smalls, United States House of Representatives, Black Americans in Congress. Emphasis added by author.
After the Civil War, Smalls was active in multiple arenas, as a newspaper publisher, as delegate to the 1868 South Carolina constitutional convention, as a businessman and educator. He was elected to the State House of Representatives, and then to the State Senate. He then was elected to the U.S. House in 1874, addressing issues related to the South Carolina coast, to the military such as army reorganization, and proposing an antidiscrimination amendment. He was convicted of charges of bribery from his days in the South Carolina state senate, but only served three days in jail. Returning to Washington, he also faced a challenge from his Democratic opponent; Smalls held onto his seat, but was defeated in the 1878 election for the 46th Congress. Through a complex process, even as Democrats gained more control over the electoral process, Smalls won his seat to the 47th, 48th and 49th Congresses. After his defeat, Smalls returned to state and national politics. He chaired the Republican state convention in 1890. Presidents Harrison and McKinley appointed him Beaufort’s port collector in 1889 and 1898.

North Carolina’s George White was the last African American elected to the U.S. House of Representatives, serving from 1897-1901, until Chicago elected Oscar De Priest in 1928. He graduated from Howard University in 1877 and became a member of the North Carolina bar in 1879.

White served in the North Carolina House of Representatives, and as a delegate to the Republican National Convention. He won election to the U.S. House when William McKinley was elected to the presidency. White offered a number of proposals addressing the racial violence that was very present in North Carolina and the South during the period; he also invited President McKinley to “discuss honoring black soldiers fighting in the Spanish American War,” as well as “federal funding for an exhibit on black achievement at the 1900 Paris Exposition.” In his final term, White introduced legislation “to make lynching a federal crime,” although it languished in the Judiciary Committee. In his last months in office, White offered the following statement: “This Mr. Chairman, is perhaps the negroes’ temporary farewell to the American Congress...but let me say, Phoenix-like he will rise up someday and come again.”

---

8 George Henry White, United States House of Representatives, Black Americans in Congress.
ELECTORAL POLITICS IN THE 20TH CENTURY

Twentieth Century black electoral participation began with the all-white southern electorate and the U.S. Supreme Court’s recognition of de jure discrimination in the 1896 Plessy v. Ferguson decision. By the end of the century, the Supreme Court had pushed against de jure policies in the 1954 Brown v. Board of Education decision. While the Court was inconsistent on its support for school desegregation, and many constraints remain on these reform policies, the overall framework had changed dramatically. The first three decades in the century were marked by an absence of any African American national electoral representation. However, by the end of the century the total number of black elected officials had risen to 9,040, and black members in Congress had reached 39.

By the late 1920s, the black population had grown substantially in northern cities such as Chicago, New York, and Detroit. Local, state and congressional black representation expanded, and was marked by the 1928 election of Oscar De Priest to the U.S. House of Representatives. Chicago has elected black representation to the U.S. House from the Illinois 1st congressional district in unbroken succession, and the size of the Congressional delegation has grown to three and for a period also included U.S. Senators Carol Moseley Braun (1993-1999), Barack Obama (2005-2009) and Roland Burris (2009 -2011). While De Priest held the seat for three terms, and his successor Arthur Mitchell (the first Democrat) for four terms (74th – 77th), the next black member, William Dawson, served for 14 terms from the 78th – 91st (1943 – 1971).

New York City elected its first African American congressman, the Rev. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. in 1945; Powell served for 12 terms, (79th – 91st) except when the U.S. House “voted – 307-116 - to exclude him from the 90th Congress (1967-69).” Both Powell and Dawson, long serving members, chaired significant committees, Education and Labor and Government Operations respectively, and exerted great influence in their roles in Congress.

After World War II, Detroit, Philadelphia and Los Angeles elected African American Congressional representatives. Detroit’s Charles Diggs was first elected in 1955, served until 1981, and attended the trial of Emmett Till’s murderers. He was joined in the House by John Conyers a decade later in 1965. Conyers served for 27 terms (89th – 115th) resigned from Congress in December 2017, and died in 2019. Diggs argued for home rule for the District of Columbia and exercised influence in African Affairs, serving on the Foreign Affairs-International Relations Committee, and the Committee on the District of Columbia for most of his career. As the first chair of the Congressional Black Caucus (1971-73), Diggs called the new caucus “the first departure from the individualistic policies that characterized black congressmen in the past.”

9 Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies, Black Elected Officials, A Statistical Summary. Table 1, p. 17

Conyers served on the Judiciary Committee, eventually chairing it in 2007, as well as on the Government Operations and the Small Business Committee. Both Conyers and Diggs played important roles in Civil Rights policy, with Conyers employing Rosa Parks as a staff member in his district office for many years; he “introduced the resolution that led to Parks lying in repose in the Rotunda of the U.S. Capitol” after her death in 2005. Conyers was a founding member of the Congressional Black Caucus in 1971.

Representatives began to be elected from other cities, including Robert Nix from Philadelphia in 1957 (for 11 terms), and Augustus Hawkins from Los Angeles in 1963 (for 14 terms). A member of the Education and Labor Committee, Hawkins chaired the Committee, and in earlier years chaired the House Administration Committee, the Joint Committee on the Library and the Joint Committee on Printing. During the Johnson administration, Hawkins played an important role in the creation of the Full Employment and Balanced Growth Act of 1978, also known as the Humphrey-Hawkins Act…[to reduce] the unemployment rate to 4 percent by 1983. Hawkins

After the passage of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, the numbers of African American members of Congress increased significantly, as the numbers of blacks in cities across the country grew rapidly. While black voting and registration grew in the South, southern jurisdictions worked hard to limit the effectiveness of the black vote for several years. It was not until the Voting Rights coalition addressed southern states’ strategies to dilute the minority vote in the 1982 campaign in support of the 1982 Voting Rights Act extension, that southern black congressional representation began to rise in late 1980s and 1990s.13

Shirley Chisholm of Brooklyn, the first woman member, William Clay Sr. of St. Louis, George Collins of Chicago and Louis Stokes of Cleveland all were elected to the House in the 91st Congress in 1969. The 92nd Congress saw the election of Ralph Metcalfe from Chicago, Parren Mitchell from Baltimore and Charles Rangel. Rangel from New York, defeated the legendary Adam Clayton Powell. Three women also joined the House in the 93rd Congress in 1973 with the election of Yvonne Brathwaite Burke of Los Angeles, Cardiss Collins of Chicago after her husband George was killed in a plane crash, and Barbara Jordan of Houston. Andrew Young was elected from Atlanta, the first elected from a southern district since Reconstruction. A second southern representative, Harold Ford, was elected from Memphis in the 94th Congress. Representation grew readily for many years, especially after the extensions of the Voting Rights Act in 1982 and 1992. The state of Mississippi sent to Congress in 1987 Michael Espy, followed by the election of Bennie Thompson in 1993.

12 Augustus Freeman Hawkins, U.S. House of Representatives, Black Americans in Congress.

John Lewis of Georgia, now known as a kind of Dean of the Congress, was first elected in 1987 in the 100th Congress. Eva Clayton of North Carolina was elected in the 102nd Congress, and Detroit’s Barbara-Rose Collins served three terms also beginning in the 102nd Congress. Maxine Waters was first elected from Los Angeles in the 102nd Congress in 1991, and continues to serve. Connecticut’s Gary Franks, the first Republican since Reconstruction was elected in 1990 and served three terms. J.C. Watts, a second Republican was elected from an Oklahoma district and served four terms beginning with the 104th Congress in 1995.

Members who rose to important Democratic Party leadership positions were elected in the final decades of the 20th century. James Clyburn, of South Carolina, was elected to the 103rd Congress and continues to serve (14 terms and counting), while Elijah Cummings, was elected to the 104th Congress and began service in 1995. Cummings served 13 terms before his recent death in October 2019. He was Chair of the Government Oversight and Reform Committee. Clyburn is Democratic Whip and serves on the Appropriations Committee.

21ST CENTURY BLACK ELECTED OFFICIALS

Patterns of congressional representation changed from the era after the Civil War when the 21 elected individuals rarely served more than one congressional term to the 20th when the number of terms lengthened so that members rarely served fewer than three or four terms.

By the late 20th and early 21st centuries, members also began to be elected from districts that weren’t majority black. Patterns of election to office also changed, with some black Republicans elected. These included Gary Franks in Connecticut, and Julius Caesar (J.C.) Watts, from a southwest Oklahoma district that had been Republican for the previous 72 years. Watts decided not to run for re-election after four terms, while Franks was defeated at the end of his third term. Mia Love, also Republican, was elected to Congress from Salt Lake City, but lost her race for re-election.
In recent elections, nearly all the new black representatives were elected from majority white or highly mixed districts; in some cases the highly mixed districts were also strongly Democratic. Lisa Blunt Rochester was elected to Delaware’s single at-large congressional district in 2016 and 2018, from a majority white district (68.8% white). Ilhan Omar was elected from Minnesota’s 5th Congressional District after Keith Ellison resigned to run for and win office as Minnesota’s Attorney General. Connecticut’s 5th district elected Jahana Hayes although it is 79% white and is marginally 2% Democratic.14 In Colorado, Joseph Neguse, offspring of Eritrean immigrants, won election to the 116th Congress even though his district, which leans 9% Democratic, is over 90% white. 15

Joyce Beatty was elected in the 115th Congress in Ohio’s majority white 3rd Congressional District which includes Columbus. The population is just under 60% white, but favors Democrats by more than 19%.16 Ayanna Pressley was elected in 2018 to the highly mixed, strongly Democratic 116th Congress in the 7th District of Massachusetts; her district is demographically diverse and favors Democrats by 34%.17 Aston Donald McEachin was elected in Virginia’s 4th Congressional District, which is majority white, but also favors Democratic candidates by 10%.18

Colin Allred from Texas’s 32nd Congressional District, was elected from a highly mixed non-majority white district, even though it leans Republican by 5%.19 Antonio Delgado was elected in New York’s 19th Congressional District including Schenectady, which is 87.76% white; the district is marginally Republican, by about 2%.20

14 Demographic and partisan information from “Connecticut’s 5th Congressional District”, Ballotpedia, Encyclopedia of American Politics. URL: https://ballotpedia.org/
15 Demographic and partisan information from “Colorado’s 2nd Congressional District”, Ballotpedia, Encyclopedia of American Politics. URL: https://ballotpedia.org/
16 “Ohio’s 3rd Congressional District”, Ballotpedia, Encyclopedia of American Politics. URL: https://ballotpedia.org/
17 “Massachusetts’ 7th Congressional District”, Ballotpedia, Encyclopedia of American Politics. URL: https://ballotpedia.org/
Lauren Underwood was elected to office from the 14th Congressional District in the western Chicago suburbs. The district both leans Republican, by about 5% and is majority 85.8% white.21

By the end of the 20th and early 21st centuries, African Americans, mostly in Democratic victories, began to win elections to the U.S. Senate. Carol Moseley Braun and Barack Obama won election to the seat representing Illinois in the U.S. Senate; Braun was defeated after her first Senate term while Obama moved on to the presidency. More recently, Kamala Harris and Corey Booker were elected to the U.S. Senate representing California and New Jersey. Tim Scott was elected to the Senate from South Carolina with its substantial black population even though he was Republican, and most black voters were Democrats.

THE CONGRESSIONAL BLACK CAUCUS

The Congressional Black Caucus (CBC), founded in 1971 with 13 members, has grown steadily as the size of the black delegation has expanded. By the 116th Congress in 2020, the CBC claimed 55 members, including 51 members in the House, two non-voting delegates and two U.S. Senators; Republican South Carolina Senator Tim Scott is not listed as a member. CBC leadership rotates with each Congress to the most senior member.

Another element that matured in the 21st century was the creation of the Congressional Tri-Caucus, composed of the alliance of the Congressional Black Caucus, the Congressional Hispanic Caucus (founded in 1976) and the Congressional Asian Pacific American Caucus (founded in 1994). With 20 Asian American Pacific Islander members, 38 members in the Congressional Hispanic Caucus and 51 House members in the CBC, the Tri-Caucus counts a total of 109 votes. A significant portion of the Tri-Caucus is Democratic, granting the group considerable influence over the 232 Democrats in the 116th Congress. The House Majority Whip is South Carolina’s Jim Clyburn, elected to that role in 2019.

WOMEN IN PUBLIC OFFICE

The proportion of black women in Congress has grown in recent decades. For example, five of the nine African American members elected in 2018, half of the six serving since 2017 (including Kamala Harris), and three of three serving since 2015, are female. In summary, 28 of the 40 black Congress members elected in the 21st century are female, a quite different pattern from the mid-20th century when Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm was the first African American woman elected to the U.S. House in 1968.

2020 PRESIDENTIAL POLITICS AND 21ST CENTURY CHALLENGES

After the exciting success of the Obama Presidential elections in 2008 and 2012, the election of Donald J. Trump left many African Americans with political expectations upended and in turmoil.

Some placed their hopes in the possibility of black or minority presidential candidates. Senators Kamala Harris, Corey Booker, and Julian Castro threw their hats in the ring early in the contest for the Democratic nomination, but they did not fare well. Booker was in the race until early January, while Harris withdrew in December 2019. Castro announced he was out early in January 2020 and immediately endorsed Senator Elizabeth Warren of Massachusetts. Deval Patrick, former Governor of Massachusetts and Clinton administration Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Civil Rights Division within the Department of Justice, entered the race in fall 2019, but ended his campaign in February 2020.

Other African American voters have affirmed their support for candidates such as Senators Elizabeth Warren and Bernie Sanders of Vermont. South Bend’s former Mayor Pete Buttigieg has been a controversial candidate, reportedly winning little, if any, support among African American voters. As the 2020 Presidential race unfolds, black voters and black elected officials will pay careful attention to several issues, including the ongoing controversies over police shootings.

Another matter relates to the Voting Rights Act of 1965, and how the Congress responds to the Supreme Court’s decision in Shelby County, Alabama v. Holder, which found Section 4 of the Voting Rights Act, unconstitutional. Section 4 set the legal guidelines which allow control over southern states’ voting procedures. Southern states covered by Section 5 were prohibited from making any new voting law changes unless reviewed by the federal courts or the Department of Justice. Once Section 4 was ruled unconstitutional in 2013, the federal courts and the Department of Justice, no longer had authority to use Section 5 object to southern and other jurisdictions’ voting law changes. Florida and Texas, for example immediately passed voting legislation which would have been ruled unacceptable in previous months.

In an effort to overrule the Supreme Court, the U.S. House passed H.R. 4, the Voting Rights Advancement Act in December 2019. The legislation, approved 228-187, with only one Republican in support, moved “to bolster protections against racial discrimination enshrined in the 1965 Voting Rights Act, the landmark civil rights statute whose central provision was struck down by the Supreme Court.” It identified a number of states which had had “15 or more voting rights violations in … the previous 25 calendar years.” On the day the legislation passed, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi commented “Since the Shelby v. Holder decision, 23 states have enacted voter suppression laws, denying millions the right to vote.”

While it is too early to make predictions about the outcome of the 2020 Presidential election, history shows that when African Americans fully participate in the political process the result is a more representative Congress.

While it is too early to make predictions about the outcome of the 2020 Presidential election, history shows that when African Americans fully participate in the political process the result is a more representative Congress.

The growth in African American representation in the Congress, as well as in local and state office, has increased substantially. African American voices will continue to have an impact on national policy, whatever the outcome. The nation will probably not face another period of exclusion from public life as was endured from 1901-1929.

Dr. Dianne M. Pinderhughes is the University of Notre Dame Presidential Faculty Fellow, and Professor in the Department of Africana Studies and the Department of Political Science. She has written widely on the involvement of African Americans in the political process.

DR. HENRY LOUIS GATES JR.
DARK SKY RISING: SELECTED SOURCES

These resources are recommended by Dr. Henry Louis Gates Jr., the Alphonse Fletcher University Professor and Director of the Hutchins Center for African and African American Research at Harvard University. Dr. Gates has explored the period of reconstruction in a 2019 PBS-history series, Reconstruction: America after the Civil War and in related books, Dark Sky Rising: Reconstruction and the Dawn of Jim Crow, with Tonya Bolden (Scholastic, 2019), and Stony the Road: Reconstruction, White Supremacy, and the Rise of Jim Crow (Penguin Random House, 2019).

PICTURE BOOKS

Alexander, Kwame
How To Read A Book
HarperCollins, 2019
A love poem about falling in love with words.
(audio available)

Alexander, Kwame
The Undefeated
Versify, 2019
A lyrical tribute to African American greats; connecting those of the past to those who continue to carry the torch.
(e-book available)

Barnes, Derrick
The King of Kindergarten
Nancy Paulsen Books, 2019
A young boy has a great first day at school.
(e-book, audio available)

Berman, Kathleen Cornell
Birth of the Cool: How Jazz Great Miles Davis Found His Sound
Page Street Kids, 2019
An entertaining introduction to the life of one of the most legendary musicians.

Brown, Karamo; Jason “Rachel” Brown
I am Perfectly Designed
Henry Holt and Company, 2019
A father and son story about self-love.
(e-book available)

Cherry, Matthew A.
Hair Love
Kokila, 2019
A father and daughter bond while racing against the clock to achieve a special look.
(e-book available)

Curry, Parker; Jessica Curry
Parker Looks Up: An Extraordinary Moment
Aladdin, 2019
A little girl is inspired by a portrait during her visit to a museum.
(e-book available)

Davis, Linsey; Beverly Davis
One Big Heart: A Celebration of Being More Alike Than Different
Zonderkidz, 2019
Children learn the importance of being different.
(e-book available)

DiCicco, Joan
The Unstoppable Garrett Morgan: Inventor, Entrepreneur, Hero
Lee & Low Books, 2019
A pioneer whose bravery saved lives at the Cleveland Waterworks Disaster in 1916.

Dipucchio, Kelly
Grace Goes to Washington
Disney-Hyperion, 2019
Student council leader and classmates learn how government makes decisions when they visit the nation’s capital.
(e-book available)

Franklin, Ashley
Not Quite Snow White
HarperCollins Children’s Books, 2019
Young girl makes brave decision and auditions for school play.
Gray, Karlin
Serena The Little Sister
Page Street Kids, 2019
The youngest of five girls grows up to become a tennis superstar.

Hegedus, Bethany
Rise! From Caged Bird to Poet of the People, Maya Angelou
Lee & Low Books, 2019
Life of a remarkable artist and activist who overcame childhood trauma to become one of the most inspiring voices of our lifetime.

Hardy, S.F.
Like a Salad
Shenomenal Ink., 2019
Siblings explore the nuances of skin tones within their family.

Harrison, Vashti
Little Legends: Exceptional Men in Black History
Little, Brown Books for Young Readers, 2019
Chronicling the lives of extraordinary black men in history.
(e-book, audio available)

Hubbard, Rita Lorraine
Hammering for Freedom: The William Lewis Story
Lee & Low Books, 2018
A determined blacksmith saves enough money to buy his freedom and that of his family.

Kastner, Emmy
Nerdy Babies Ocean
Roaring Book Press, 2019
Infants explore the deep sea life.
(e-book available)

Kirkfield, Vivian
Sweet Dreams, Sarah: From Slavery to Inventor
Creston Books, 2019
Hard work does pay off and it did for Mrs. Goode, becoming the first African American woman to get a U.S. patent for her design of a cabinet bed.
(audio available)

Lyons, Kelly Starling
Going Down Home with Daddy
Peachtree Publishing Company, 2019
Lil’ Alan is excited about his annual family visit, until it dawns on him that unlike everyone else, he has nothing to offer Granny.

Lukoff, Kyle
When Aidan Became a Brother
Lee & Low Books, 2019
Aidan learns to adjust to his new gender identity when a new baby comes to the family.

McDaniel, Breanna J.
Hands Up!
Dial Books for Young Readers, 2019
From acts of joy, exploration, love and protest, Viv expresses herself.

McKissack, Patricia C.
What Is Given from the Heart
Schwartz & Wade Books, 2019
A poor boy finds a way to make a special gift to a family who lost everything.
(e-book available)

Murphy, Frank
A Boy Like You
Sleeping Bear Press, 2019
A child is encouraged by his acts of kindness, thoughtfulness and curiosity.
(e-book available)
Nelson, Vaunda Micheaux
Let’er Buck!: George Fletcher, the People’s Champion
Carolrhoda Books, 2019
A triumphant tale of a Black cowboy and champion rodeo star.

Nyong’o, Lupita
Sulwe
Simon and Schuster’s Books for Young Readers, 2019
Young girl loves to learn the beauty inside herself.
(e-book available)

Paul, Miranda
I Am Farmer: Growing an Environmental Movement in Cameroon
Millbrook/Lerner, 2019
Tantoh Nforba cultivates the natural landscape bringing clean water and bountiful gardens to his country.
(e-book available)

Pizzoli, Tamara
Tallulah the Tooth Fairy CEO
Farrar, Straus and Giroux (BYR), 2019
A pixie mogul is stumped by a six-year-old who leaves a note instead of a tooth under his pillow.
(e-book available)

Robeson, Susan
Grandpa Stops a War: A Paul Robeson Story
Triangle Square, 2019
The story of the amazing life of Susan’s grandfather—a scholar, activist and singer.
(e-book available)

Salazar, Aida
The Moon Within
Arthur A. Levine Books, 2019
Celi, who is multiracial, dreads puberty while her mother plans a traditional celebration for the occasion.
(e-book available)

Slade, Suzanne
A Computer Called Katherine
Little, Brown and Company, 2019
From a child prodigy to a mathematician, an African American woman became instrumental in the first American astronauts’ journey into space.
(e-book, audio available)

Wittenstein, Barry
Sonny’s Bridge: Jazz Legend Sonny Rollins Finds His Groove
Charlesbridge, 2019
A prolific saxophonist looks for inspiration on the Williamsburg bridge after his hiatus from the 1950s music scene.
(e-book available)

Zachariah, Abdul-Razak
The Night Is Yours
Dial Books, 2019
A father’s poetic love story for his daughter.
(e-book available)

JUVENILE FICTION

Chase, Paula
So Done
Greenwillow, 2019
The pressures of middle school and secrets weigh on the friendship bond of Metai and Jamila.
(e-book, audio available)

Elliot, Zetta
The Dragon Thief
Random House Books for Young Readers, 2019
Kavita discovers that stealing a dragon is really not a good idea!

Lockington, Mariama J.
For Black Girls Like Me
Farrar, Straus and Giroux (Byr), 2019
Makeda is having a difficult time adjusting to her white family; yearning to meet her birth mother makes matters worse.
(e-book, audio available)
Mbalia, Kwame
Tristan Strong Punches a Hole in the Sky
Rick Riordan Presents, 2019
African American fabled characters are weaved into a tall tale of a young man suffering from survivor’s remorse.
(e-book, audio available)

Reynolds, Jason
Look Both Ways: A Tale Told In Ten Blocks
Antheneum Books for Young Readers, 2019
Ten different stories about the walk home from school.
(e-book, audio available)

Watson, Renee
Some Places More Than Others
Bloomsbury Children’s Books, 2019
A young lady visits Harlem and connects with her father’s family.
(e-book available)

Winston, Sherri
Jada Sly, Artist & Spy
Little, Brown Books for Young Readers, 2019
With the help of her friends, a grieving girl sets out to learn the truth of the alleged death of her mom.
(e-book available)

Bryan, Ashley
Infinite Hope: A Black Artist’s Journey from World War II to Peace
Atheneum, 2019
Through photographs, paintings, handwritten letters and diary entries, writer and illustrator Bryan Ashley recounts his journey as an African American soldier in a segregated army.
(e-book, audio available)

Bryant, Jen
Feed Your Mind: A Story of August Wilson
Abrams Books, 2019
A two-act play about the famous playwright who captured the African American experience.
(e-book available)

Gates, Henry Louis, Jr.
Dark Sky Rising: Reconstruction and the Dawn of Jim Crow
Scholastic Nonfiction, 2019
An eloquent appraisal, revealing a pivotal time in American history.
(e-book, audio available)

Boyce, Jo Ann Allen
This Promise of Change: One Girl’s Story in the Fight for School Equality
Bloomsbury Children’s Books, 2019
Jo Ann Allen’s first person perspective about the integration of a Tennessee high school.
(e-book available)

Davis, Meredith
Her Own Two Feet: A Rwandan Girl’s Brave Fight to Walk
Scholastic, 2019
An inspiring story of a young girl whose dreams manifest through hope and perseverance.
(e-book, audio available)
Dunbar, Erica Armstrong
Never Caught, the Story of Ona Judge: George and Martha Washington’s Courageous Slave Who Dared to Run Away; Young Readers Edition
Aladdin Paperbacks, 2019
A glimpse into the life of a little-known figure in history and her brave journey as she fled bondage.
(e-book, audio available)

Johnson, Katherine
Reaching for the Moon: The Autobiography of NASA Mathematician Katherine Johnson
Atheneum Books for Young Readers, 2019
Arithmetician whose calculations helped launch Apollo 11.
(e-book, audio available)

Noah, Trevor
It’s Trevor Noah: Born a Crime: Stories from a South African Childhood (Adapted for Young Readers)
Delacorte Press, 2019
A story of a biracial comedian growing up during apartheid.
(e-book available)

Acevedo, Elizabeth
With the Fire on High
HarperTeen, 2019
Graduating senior makes major decisions about her future.
(e-book, audio available)

Anderson, Natalie C.
Let’s Go Swimming on Doomsday
G.P. Putnam’s Sons Books for Young Readers, 2019
Abdi is forced into a life of terrorism in order to save his family. Now he must save himself.
(e-book, audio available)

Adeyemi, Tomi
Children of Virtue and Vengeance
Henry Holt & Company, 2019
In this book of magic, Zélie and Amari must fight against the powerful to gain the throne and keep the good magic flourishing.
(e-book, audio available)

Davis, Charlotte Nicole
The Good Luck Girls
Tor Teen, 2019
Girls forced to work in a futuristic brothel escape and are on the run.
(e-book, audio available)

Jen Bryant
Feed Your Mind: A Story of August Wilson
Joy, Amanda
A River of Royal Blood
G.P. Putnam’s Sons Books for Young Readers, 2019
A North African tale of magic and fantasy.
(e-book, audio available)

McKinney, L.L.
Dream So Dark
Imprint, 2019
Alice conquers one challenge only to be faced with another in this African American take on Alice and Wonderland.
(e-book, audio available)

Magoon, Kekla
Light It Up
Henry Holt and Co., 2019
Different viewpoints tell the story of a young woman’s death at the hands of the police.
(e-book available)

Morris, Brittney
Slay
Simon Pulse, 2019
Gamer Kiera secretly develops an online game that celebrates Black culture; the utopia is threatened when a player is murdered.
(e-book, audio available)

Parker, Morgan
Who Put this Song On?
Delacorte Press, 2019
A young girl who struggles with depression, fights to forge her own way.
(e-book, audio available)

Reynolds, Justin A.
Opposite of Always
Katherine Tegen Books, 2019
After the sudden death of Kate, Jake travels back in time in an effort to save her—his choice has unforeseen consequences.

Stone, Nic
Jackpot
Crown Books for Young Readers, 2019
Two classmates from different walks of life join forces to find the winner of an unclaimed winning lottery ticket.
(e-book, audio available)

Thomas, Angie
On the Come Up
HarperCollins Publishers, 2019
Bri has the potential to be a rap legend. Will she choose her convictions or be lured by fame and fortune?
(e-book, audio available)

Watson, Renée; Ellen Hagan
Watch Us Rise
Bloomsbury, 2019
Conflict ensues when the efforts of two girls create a feminist group and blog to fight against the lack of diversity.
(e-book available)

Zoboi, Ibi
Black Enough: Stories of Being Young and Black in America
Balzer & Bray/Harperteen
Stories by acclaimed authors about the many struggles faced by African American youth.
(e-book, audio available)
Bennett, Michael
Things that Make White People Uncomfortable (Adapted for Young Adults)
Haymarket Books, 2019
Michael Bennett, a Super Bowl Champion, uses his voice for activism.
(e-book available)

Murray, Elizabeth A.
The Dozier School for Boys: Forensics, Survivors and a Painful Past
Twenty-First Century Books, 2019
A racially segregated Florida State reform school that opened its doors in the 1900s, left behind survivors of strict discipline, neglect and torture. This is their story.
(e-book available)

Rees, John U.
‘They Were Good Soldiers’: African-Americans Serving in the Continental Army, 1775-1783
Helion and Company, 2019
Some were free and some were slaves, the narrative examines the history of Black soldiers and their service in the southern regiments.

Stevenson, Bryan
Just Mercy (Adapted for Young Adults): A True Story of the Fight for Justice.
Ember, 2019
Taking the higher ground, a social advocate’s journey in the fight against a broken U.S. justice system.
(e-book available)

Grimes, Nikki
Ordinary Hazards
Wordsong, 2019
Nikki Grimes turns to writing to escape the turbulence of her young life.
(e-book available)

Harris, Jonathan
Colorblind: A Story of Racism (Series)
Zuiker Press, 2019
A graphic novel that embarks on 15-year-old Johnathan Harris’ struggle with racism and hatred that has his heart and mind entangled.
(e-book available)

Houtman, Jacqueline, et al.
Troublemaker for Justice: The Story of Bayard Rustin, the Man Behind the March on Washington
City Lights Books, 2019
Steadfast in his Quaker beliefs, meet the gay Black civil rights leader and organizer of the 1963 March on Washington.
BEST OF FICTION

More to Life

Ta-Nehisi Coates
The Water Dancer
A Novel

The Care and Feeding of Ravenously Hungry Girls
Antsia Gray

A Death in Harlem
A Novel

In West Mills
De'Shawn Charles Winslow
BEST OF 2019

Billingsley, ReShonda Tate
More to Life
Dafina Kensington, 2019
A dedicated wife and mother makes some discoveries about her life when she takes a vacation away from her family.
(e-book available)

Coates, Ta-Nehisi
Water Dancer
One World, 2019
Born with an extraordinary power, Hiram must use his gift to reunite his family.
(e-book, audio available)

Gray, Anissa
The Care and Feeding of Ravenously Hungry Girls
Berkley, 2019
The Butler siblings must raise their oldest sister’s children while she serves time in prison.
(e-book, audio available)

Holloway, Karla F.C.
A Death in Harlem
TriQuarterly, 2019
In 1920s Harlem, the first “colored” policeman investigates a murder where nothing is as it seems.

Winslow, De’Shawn
In West Mills
Bloomsbury Publishing, 2019
A young woman is determined to always have a good time in spite of the disapproval of close family and friends.
(e-book available)

Abdul-Jabbar, Kareem; Anna Waterhouse
Mycroft and Sherlock: The Empty Birdcage
Titan Books (UK), 2019
Third in the series, follows the brothers as they solve another intriguing mystery.
(e-book available)

Alers, Rochelle
This Time for Keeps
Harlequin, 2019
High school friends return to their hometown and become involved in a relationship.
(e-book, audio available)

Antionette, Ashley
Ethic 6 (Ethic)
Ashley Antionette, Inc. 2019
Conclusion to popular series featuring Ezra “Ethic” Okafor.
(e-book, audio available)

A’zayler
In Love with My Enemy
Dafina Kensington, 2019
The lives of two siblings are threatened by their father’s dangerous past.
(e-book available)

Billingsley, ReShonda Tate
More to Life
Dafina Kensington, 2019
A dedicated wife and mother makes some discoveries about her life when she takes a vacation away from her family.
(e-book available)

Brooks, Nita
Redesigning Happiness
Dafina Kensington, 2019
A successful interior designer’s seemingly perfect life is disrupted by her ex-boyfriend.
(e-book available)

Bryant, Gizelle
My Word
Brown Girls Books, 2019
A pastor’s wife tries to save her marriage and faith.
(e-book available)

Burns, V.M.
Bookmarked for Murder
Kensington, 2019
The annual shopping bus trip to Chicago, sponsored by the Shady Acres Retirement Village, is marred by murder.
(e-book available)

Christopher, Andie J.
Not the Girl You Marry
Berkley, 2019
A journalist and an event planner fake a relationship, but discover real feelings for each other.
(e-book, audio available)

Christy, Tamika
Never Too Soon
Boutique of Quality Books, 2019
Anaya is finding that juggling a busy career and a demanding family might be too much.

Clark, Tracy
Borrowed Time
Kensington, 2019
A private investigator’s life is endangered by what she believed would be a simple investigation.
(e-book available)
Coates, Ta-Nehisi
Water Dancer
One World, 2019
Born with an extraordinary power, Hiram must use his gift to reunite his family.
(e-book, audio available)

Cole, Alyssa
A Prince on Paper
Avon, 2019
A playboy prince and the daughter of a disgraced government minister contrive a fake engagement.
(e-book, audio available)

Cole, Briana
The Vows We Break
Dafina Kensington, 2019
Kimera continues to make bad decisions that impact her marriage and other relationships.
(e-book available)

Colvin, Jeffery
Africaville
Amistad Press, 2019
The tale of three generations of an African-Canadian family in Halifax, Nova Scotia.
(e-book, audio available)

Danticat, Edwidge
Everything Inside: Stories
Alfred A. Knopf, 2019
Eight powerful stories depict community, family and love.
(e-book available)

Day, Zuri
Sweet Heat
Dafina Kensington, 2019
Marvin and Naomi meet and fall in love while competing on a reality show.
(e-book available)

Dennis-Benn, Nicole
Pasty
Liveright Publishing Corporation, 2019
A Jamaican immigrant struggles to develop a life in America as she copes with leaving her family behind.
(e-book, audio available)

Flowers, Ebony
Hot Comb
Drawn & Quarterly, 2019
Stories shared in the beauty salon address issues of race, class and identity.

Folarin, Tope
A Particular Kind of Black Man
Simon & Schuster, 2019
A coming of age story of a young Nigerian’s search for identity while he attempts to assimilate to American life.
(e-book, audio available)

Gray, Anissa
The Care and Feeding of Ravenously Hungry Girls
Berkley, 2019
The Butler siblings must raise their oldest sister’s children while she serves time in prison.
(e-book, audio available)

Guillory, Jasmine
Royal Holiday
Jove Book, 2019
An unexpected vacation fling develops into a long-distance love affair.
(e-book, audio available)

Guillory, Jasmine
The Wedding Party
Jove Book, 2019
Best friends of the bride fall in love after years of hating each other.
(e-book, audio available)

Haywood, Gar Anthony
Good Man Gone Bad: An Aaron Gunner Mystery
Prospect Park Books, 2019
Los Angeles P.I. Aaron Gunner must solve the mysteries behind two deadly shootings.
(e-book available)
Head, Cheryl A.
Judge Me When I’m Wrong
Bywater Books 2019
Detroit based private investigator is selected for jury duty and starts probing into the case on her own. (e-book available)

Herbert, A. L.
Murder with Collard Greens and Hot Sauce (Mahalia Watkins Mystery #3)
Kensington, 2019
Mahalia becomes entangled in murder when the queen of a beauty and hair empire is killed. (e-book available)

Hernandez, Treasure
Belle
Urban Books, 2019
After her parents are killed, Belle is introduced to an underground fantasy life that may ultimately destroy her. (e-book available)

Hibbert, Talia
Get a Life Chloe Brown
Avon, 2019
Rebounding from a health scare, a young woman decides to fulfill her bucket list. (e-book, audio available)

Hickman, Trice
The Other Side
Dafna, 2019
Friendships are strengthened as three women deal with their romantic relationships. (e-book, audio available)

Holloway, Karla F.C.
A Death in Harlem
TriQuarterly, 2019
In 1920s Harlem, the first “colored” policeman investigates a murder where nothing is as it seems.

Holness, Jacqueline
Destination Wedding
Soon Come Books, 2019
Three best friends give themselves one year to find husbands in order to avoid becoming a stereotype. (e-book available)

Jackson, Brenda
Finding Home Again (A Catalina Cove Novel)
HQN, 2019
Bryce and Kaegan rekindle their love after a ten-year separation. (e-book, audio available)

Jackson, K.M.
Too Sweet to Be Good (Sugar Lake Book 2)
Dafina, 2019
A businesswoman volunteers to help renovate a local theater despite pushback from her new boyfriend. (e-book available)

King, Camryn
Snapshot
Kensington Books, 2019
A photographer returns home from work and play in the Bahamas to discover that her life is in jeopardy. (e-book available)

K’wan
Wrath
Urban Books, 2019
A young man is drawn into a life of crime but love tries to lead him out.

Littles, T.C.
Graveyard Love
Urban Books, 2019
The Detroit streets turn a young girl’s fantasy into a harsh reality. (e-book available)

Locke, Attica
Heaven, My Home
Mulholland Books, 2019
Texas Ranger Darren Mathews is sent to Jefferson to help a local sheriff investigate the disappearance of nine-year-old Levi King. (e-book, audio available)

Martin, Alexa
Blitzed
Berkley, 2019
A bar-owner and a professional athlete find healing and understanding in their love for each other. (e-book, audio available)

Mengiste, Maaza
The Shadow King
W.W. Norton & Company, 2019
Brings forth the important roles that Ethiopian female soldiers played during Mussolini’s 1935 invasion of the African country. (e-book available)
Mickelbury, Penny
God’s Will and Other Lies
BLF Press, 2019
Collection of stories about women set in the background of 1960’s Detroit.

Moore, Niyah
Sand Cove
Urban Renaissance, 2019
Beach resort town holds secrets of deceit and adultery mixed with love triangles and murder.

Morrison, Mary B.
I Do Love You Still
Dafina Kensington, 2019
A career-driven woman is forced to re-evaluate her relationships and choose between sex or love.
(e-book available)

Murray, Victoria Christopher
Greed (A Seven Deadly Sins Novel)
Gallery Books, 2019
Zuri allows her lust for the finer things to ruin her career and personal relationships.
(e-book, audio available)

Norfleet, Celeste
One Night in Georgia
Amistad, 2019
College friends experience a life altering road trip as they return to their final year at Spelman College.
(e-book, audio available)

Pearson, Robin
A Long Time Comin’
Tyndale House Publishing, 2020
Finding a box of old letters forces two women to deal with past hurts, regrets and truths.
(e-book available)

Rax, Cydney
A Sister’s Power (Reeves Sisters #3)
Dafina, Kensington, 2019
Five sisters attempt to reunite after betrayal and tragedy.

Reid, Kiley
Such a Fun Age
G.P. Putnam’s Sons, 2019
Powerful story of relationship and racial dynamics between a privileged white woman and her child’s babysitter, a black woman.
(e-book available)

Scott, Rion Amilcar
The World Doesn’t Require You
Liveright Publishing Corporation, 2019
Intersecting stories use fantasy, reality, and magical realism to depict systematic racism and bigotry.
(e-book, audio available)

Sinclair, Shaun
King Reece
Dafina Kensington, 2019
After serving five years in prison and returning to the lucrative drug game will the Crescent Crew rise, or will vengeance be the downfall?
(e-book available)

Simmons, Pat
Lean on Me
Sourcebooks Casablanca, 2020
Tired and sad from taking care of her aunt, Tabatha finds support and love from her neighbor, Marcus.
(e-book available)
Sexton, Margaret Wilkerson
The Revisioners
Counterpoint LLC, 2019
Two women from different generations tell alternating stories of survival, healing and resilience.
(e-book available)

Swinson, Kiki
The Safe House
Kensington Publishing, 2019
A young woman gets caught up in the lure of easy money and finds herself fighting for her life.
(e-book available)

Thomas, Keith
Dahlia Black
Atria Books, 2019
First contact with aliens results in a sublime transformation of 30% of the human race.
(e-book available)

Terry, Chris L.
Black Card
Catapult, 2019
A satirical tale of a young man’s struggle between culture and race as he confronts what it means to be black in America.
(e-book, audio available)

Warren, Tiffany L.
All The Things I Should Have Known
Dafina Books, 2020
Successful besties, Hahna, Twila and Kimberly, live the cougar lifestyle until they realize that casual relationships are more complicated than imagined.
(e-book available)

Whitehead, Colson
Nickel Boys
Doubleday Books, 2019
Haunting saga follows the experiences of two African-American teenagers at an abusive reform school in Jim Crow-era Florida.

Wilkinson, Lauren
American Spy
Random House, 2019
Female FBI agent recalls her life of espionage and falling in love.
(e-book, audio available)

Winslow, De'Shawn
In West Mills
Bloomsbury Publishing, 2019
A young woman is determined to always have a good time in spite of the disapproval of close family and friends.
(e-book available)

Woods, Rita
Remembrance
Forge Books, 2020
Three women are interconnected through magical elements that are linked to the Underground Railroad.
(e-book, audio available)

Woodson, Jacqueline
Red at the Bone
Riverhead Books, 2019
An unexpected teenage pregnancy pulls together two families from different social classes.
(e-book, audio available)
BEST OF NON-FICTION

THE LOVE PRISON MADE and Unmade
My Story
EBONY ROBERTS

Jubilee
RECIPES FROM TWO CENTURIES OF AFRICAN AMERICAN COOKING

The Queen Next Door
Aretha Franklin, An Intimate Portrait
ART, MUSIC, AND POETRY

DYSON, MICHAEL ERIC

Jay-Z: Made in America
St. Martin's Press, 2019
From hustling in the streets to hustling in the boardroom, a thorough dissection of the life of rap mogul Jay-Z.
(audio available)

HEYDT, STEPHANIE MAYER, ET AL.

“Something Over Something Else”: Romare Bearden’s Profile Series
University of Washington Press, 2019
This seminal work examines Bearden’s Profile Series, while offering a broader understanding of the famed artist.

HOUSE, GLORIA

A Life Speaks
Kresge Foundation, 2019
A detailed look at the life and art of the celebrated educator, poet and activist.

IANDOLI, KATHY

God Save the Queens: The Essential History of Women in Hip-Hop
Dey Street Books, 2019
Author explores the role of female artists, from hip-hop’s inception to today’s hit-makers.
(e-book available)

JACKSON, LAWRENCE

Yes We Did: Photos and Behind-the-Scenes Stories Celebrating Our First African American President
Tarcherperigee, 2019
Photographer captures images that depict the Obamas in intimate and personal settings.
(e-book available)

JONES, BOOKER T

Time Is Tight: My Life, Note by Note
Little Brown and Company, 2019
Insightful memoir of the leader of the famed Stax Records house band who also created the Memphis soul sound.
(e-book available)

MORESI, MICHELE GATES, ET AL.

Pictures with Purpose: Early Photographs from the National Museum of African American History and Culture
Giles, 2019
NMAAHC’s collection of 19th and early 20th-century photography depicting examples of Black people in various states of life.

MORRISON, TONI

Goodness and the Literary Imagination: Harvard’s 95th Ingersoll Lecture with Essays on Morrison’s Moral and Religious Vision
University of Virginia Press, 2019
Famed author examines the concept of goodness and why it is a major theme in many of her novels.

MORRISON, TONI

The Source of Self-Regard: Selected Essays, Speeches, and Meditations
Knopf, 2019
This collection, written over the span of four decades includes essays, speeches, and reflections on numerous social issues.
(e-book, audio available)
St. Nicholas, Randes
My Name is Prince
Amistad, 2019
Stunning photography is the culmination of a 25-year friendship between two iconic artists.

Solomon, Linda
The Queen Next Door: Aretha Franklin, An Intimate Portrait
Wayne State University Press, 2019
Renowned photographer captures rare moments in the Queen of Soul’s professional and personal life.
(e-book available)

Soyinka, Wole
Beyond Aesthetics: Use, Abuse, and Dissonance in African Art Traditions (Richard D. Cohen Lectures on African & African American Art)
Yale University Press, 2019
An examination of the beauty in black art through a different lens that projects true appreciation and aesthetics.

BIOGRAPHY/MEMOIRS

Austin, Nefertiti
Motherhood So White: A Memoir of Race, Gender and Parenting in America
Sourcebooks, 2019
Author sheds light on perceptions of black women as mothers and how they have shaped her parenting experience.
(e-book available)

Broom, Sara
The Yellow House: A Memoir
Grove Press, 2019
A young woman feels an undeniable pull back to a home and family uprooted by Hurricane Katrina.
(e-book available)

Brown-Long, Cyntoia
Free Cyntoia: My Search for Redemption in the American Prison System
Atria Books, 2019
Coming-of-age memoir written during her incarceration, details the transformation from a tragic adolescence to freedom after fifteen years.
(e-book, audio available)

Buchanan, Shonda
Black Indian
Wayne State University Press, 2019
Moving memoir explores an African American family’s multi-ethnic heritage.
(e-book available)

Crawford, Robyn
A Song for You: My Life with Whitney Houston
Dutton Books, 2019
An intimate retelling of the complicated friendship which could only be told by a best friend.
(e-book, audio available)

Common
Let Love Have the Last Word
Atria, 2019
Multi-talented artist shares his story of pain, struggle and subsequent healing.
(e-book, audio available)

Davidson, Tommy
Living in Color: What’s Funny about Me
Kensington Publishing Corporation, 2020
From being abandoned as an infant to television star, Emmy Award winning comedian shares his life with readers.
(e-book available)
Day, Daniel R.
Dapper Dan: Made in Harlem: A Memoir
Random House, 2019
Change and re-imaginings are the constants in this dynamic memoir of a fashion trailblazer.
(e-book, audio available)

Day, Morris; David Ritz
On Time: A Princely Life in Funk
Da Capo Press, 2019
Singer offers a glimpse into his life and the creative process between him, Prince and others who captured the “Minneapolis Sound.”
(e-book available)

Dozier, Lamont; Scott B. Bomar
How Sweet It Is: A Songwriter’s Reflections on Music, Motown and the Mystery of the Muse
BMG Books, 2019
Legendary songwriter and producer shares memories of his time in the music industry.
(e-book available)

Dunbar, Erica Armstrong
She Came to Slay: The Life and Times of Harriet Tubman
37 Link, 2019
A tribute to one of the most exceptional women in American History and her influence on societal issues today.
(e-book, audio available)

Ellison, Ralph; John F. Callahan (ed.) and Marc C. Conner (ed.)
The Selected Letters of Ellison
Random House, 2020
Examines the life of author Ralph Ellison over six decades.
(e-book available)

Ford, Clyde W.
Think Black: A Memoir
Amistad, 2019
The crushing pressures of institutional racism deeply impacts the life of IBM’s first black software engineer.
(e-book available)

Greenidge, Kerri K.
Black Radical: The Life and Times of William Monroe Trotter
Liveright Publishing Corporation, 2019
Black real estate magnate and newspaper owner led struggles against segregationist policies in early 20th century America that cost his fortune and his life.

Jackson, Curtis “50 Cent”
Hustle Harder, Hustle Smarter
Amistad Press, 2020
From Power to powerful, multi-platinum selling rap artist and executive producer Curtis “50 Cent” Jackson reveals the secrets to finding and maintaining success.
(e-book, audio available)

Jones, Saeed
How We Fight for Our Lives: A Memoir
Simon & Schuster, 2019
A young man chronicles the difficulties of growing up black and gay in the American South.

Lee, Jason
God Must Have Forgotten About Me
House Capacity Publishing, 2020
Entertainment journalist and reality TV star details his life growing up in foster care.

Morgan-Owens, Jessie
Girl in Black and White: The Story of Mary Mildred Williams and the Abolition Movement
W.W. Norton & Company, 2019
A meta-biography of a seven-year old slave girl, her reddish hair and light skin used by abolitionists to sway support against slavery.
(e-book available)

Payne, Doris
Diamond Doris: The True Story of the World’s Most Notorious Jewel Thief
Amistad, 2019
Hoping to support her family and live a life beyond the ordinary, a woman becomes a grifter.
(e-book, audio available)

Prince
The Beautiful Ones
Spiegel & Grau, 2019
Handwritten lyrics and personal photos are several highlights of this memoir that the artist was writing at the time of his death.
(e-book, audio available)
NON-FICTION (con’t)

Rakim
Sweat the Technique: Revelations on Creativity from the Lyrical Genius
Amistad, 2019
Both memoir and writing guide, this progressive rap pioneer reveals his muses and his creative processes.
(e-book, audio available)

Rice, Susan
Tough Love: My Story of the Things Worth Fighting For
Simon & Schuster, 2019
Insightful memoir details a life and career that led to a top position in the Obama administration.
(e-book, audio available)

Roberts, Ebony
The Love Prison Made and Unmade: My Story
Amistad, 2019
Chronicles a young woman’s relationship with a man she met while he was incarcerated and their relationship after he was released.
(e-book, audio available)

Ross, Rick
Hurricanes: A Memoir
Hanover Square Press, 2019
Rapper and businessman chronicles his rise to fame and infamy.
(e-book, audio available)

Valentine, Sarah
When I was White: A Memoir
St. Martin’s Press, 2019
A young woman’s self-identity is shattered when she discovers her true parentage.
(e-book, audio available)

Williams, Thomas Chatterton
Self-Portrait in Black and White: Unlearning Race
W.W. Norton & Company, 2019
Three personal essays about the role of race in human identity and Western society.

Winans, BeBe
Born for This: My Story in Music
Faithwords, 2019
Famed gospel singer reveals his triumphs, disappointments and personal stories about his life in the music industry.
(e-book, audio available)

Yvette, Latonya
Woman of Color
Abrams Image, 2019
Lifestyle blogger discusses motherhood and how to define your own personal style and beauty.
(e-book available)

BUSINESS, FINANCE AND PROFESSIONAL

Clarke, Antoinette M.; Tricia Clarke-Stone
Double Down: Bet on Yourself and Succeed on Your Terms
Currency, 2019
Authors present successful strategies to help move your work and personal life to the next level.
(e-book, audio available)

Graham, Stedman
Identity Leadership: To Lead Others You Must First Lead Yourself
Center Street, 2019
Discover how self-awareness and personal growth can promote success in every area of life.
(audio available)

Harts, Minda
The Memo: What Women of Color Need to Know to Secure a Seat at the Table
Seal Press, 2019
A career coaching and business strategy guide for people of color.
(e-book, audio available)
Mosley, Walter
Elements of Fiction
Grove Press, 2019
Instruction on how to write well and hone one’s craft is the goal of this style manual.
(e-book, audio available)

Newkirk, Pamela
Diversity, Inc.: The Failed Promise of a Billion-Dollar Business
Bold Type Books, 2019
Journalist shines a critical light on workplace diversity initiatives, which have spawned a multimillion dollar industry.
(e-book, audio available)

Parker, Traci
Department Stores and the Black Freedom Movement: Workers, Consumers, and Civil Rights from the 1930s to the 1980s
The University of North Carolina Press, 2019
A look at the Civil Rights movement from the retail perspective, told from both sides of the counter.

Welteroth, Elaine
More Than Enough: Claiming Space for Who You Are (No Matter What They Say)
Viking, 2019
Groundbreaking media pioneer shares the challenges and strategies that shaped her self-evolution.
(e-book, audio available)

Stedman Graham
Identity Leadership: To Lead Others You Must First Lead Yourself

Let’s Move Initiative, Obama, Michelle
Healthy Lunchtime Cookbook: Award-Winning Recipes from and for Kids
Skyhorse Publishing, 2019
56 recipes created to be budget-friendly, healthy, and delicious for the entire family.

Lynch, Lazarus
Son of a Southern Chef: Cook with Soul
Avery, 2019
African and Caribbean influences add zest to classic recipes.
(e-book available)

Moore, Ricky
Saltbox Seafood Joint Cookbook
The University of North Carolina Press, 2019
Classically trained chef shares regional seafood recipes.
(e-book available)

COOKING

Barker, Tray; Tracy Morgan
The Last O.G. Cookbook: How to Get Mad Culinary Skills
Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, 2019
Recipes with a dash of humor, inspired by the popular television show.

Boyd, Nikki
Beautifully Organized: A Guide to Function and Style in Your Home
Paige Tate & Co., 2019
Popular You-Tube influencer shares her best advice for a stylish, yet organized home.

Jackson, Eddie
Game-Day Eats: 100 Recipes for Homegating Like a Pro
Harper Design, 2019
Full-color cookbook for tailgating and sports-themed parties.
(e-book available)

Tray Barker; Tracy Morgan
The Last O.G. Cookbook: How to Get Mad Culinary Skills
Questlove
Mixtape Potluck Cookbook
Harry N. Abrams, 2019
Author and musician imagines the ultimate potluck dinner party, with a collection of recipes that highlight the relationship between music and food.
(e-book available)

Robinson, Sallie Ann
Sallie Ann Robinson’s Kitchen: Food and Family Lore from the Lowcountry
University Press of Florida, 2019
Renowned Gullah chef shares South Carolina’s regional favorites.

Tipton-Martin, Toni
Jubilee: Recipes from Two Centuries of African-American Cooking: A Cookbook
Clarkson Potter, 2019
Historic recipes are adapted to a modern palate.
(e-book available)

Wallach, Jennifer Jensen
Getting What We Need Ourselves: How Food Has Shaped African American Life
Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2019
Multigenerational story documents the power of food and the ongoing battle for access in certain communities.
(e-book available)

Smith, J. J.
7-Day Apple Cider Vinegar Cleanse
Simon & Schuster, 2019
Bestselling author and nutritionist offers advice on using the popular supplement as a detox.
(e-book, audio available)

Tyson, Neil deGrasse
Letters from an Astrophysicist
W. W. Norton & Company, 2019
Famed scientist uses a “cosmic perspective” to answer a variety of questions from fans.
(e-book available)

Bell, Richard
Stolen: Five Free Boys Kidnapped Into Slavery and Their Astonishing Odyssey Home
37 Ink, 2019
Historian reconstructs the true story of the kidnapping, escape and the campaign to bring their captors to justice.
(e-book, audio available)
Bunch, Lonnie G., III
A Fool’s Errand: Creating the National Museum of African American History and Culture During the Age of Bush, Obama, and Trump
Smithsonian Books, 2019
Bunch tells of the political and personal challenges he faced to bring the vision for the NMAAHC to fruition.
(e-book available)

Green, Victor H.; Henry Louis Gates, Jr. (introduction)
The Negro Motorist Green Book: 1938-1963
Skyhorse Publishing, 2019
This historical resource for travelers, served as a guidebook that provided a list of establishments throughout the country where African Americans could feel welcome.

Horne, Gerald; Charisse Burden-Stelly
ABC-CLIO, 2019
Extensively researched memoir offers a radical reinterpretation of this eminent life.

Keith, Phil; Tom Clavin
All Blood Runs Red: The Legendary Life of Eugene Bullard-Boxer, Pilot, Soldier, Spy
Hanover Square Press, 2019
The incredible story of the first African American military pilot in World War I.
(e-book available)

Sorin, Gretchen
Driving While Black: African American Travel and the Road to Civil Rights
Liveright Publishing Corporation, 2019
Describes how car ownership in the Black community was seen as a tool of Civil Rights, using archival research, interviews, and the researcher’s family’s history.
(e-book available)

Jakes, T. D.
Crushing
Faithwords, 2019
Famed pastor believes that hardships and challenges can breed tremendous strength and fortitude.
(e-book, audio available)

Lifford, Tina
The Little Book of Big Lies: A Journey into Inner Fitness
Amistad, 2019
Actor and playwright helps you decipher and overcome the untruths that prevent self-awareness and happiness.
(e-book available)

Seales, Amanda
Small Doses: Potent Truths for Everyday Use
Harry N. Abrams, 2019
Comedian and actress delivers “self help from the hip” through a series of essays, commentaries and photos.
(e-book available)
Webb, Koya
Let Your Fears Make You Fierce: How to Turn Common Obstacles Into Seeds for Growth
Hay House, 2019
Offers guidance and tools to help you live a confident, fearless and fulfilling life.
(e-book available)

POLITICAL/SOCIAL SCIENCES

Barber, Charles
Citizen Outlaw: One Man’s Journey from Gangleader to Peacekeeper
Ecco Press, 2019
Inspiring profile of a young man who went from gangland kingpin to becoming an upstanding community advocate for social justice and prison reform.

Cobbina, Jennifer E
Hands Up, Don’t Shoot: Why the Protests in Ferguson and Baltimore Matter, and How They Changed America
New York University Press, 2019
Examination of how racial inequality, hostility and bias contribute to police killings of black citizens.

Harris, Kamala
The Truths We Hold: An American Journey
Penguin Press, 2019
Senator, and former presidential candidate, discusses the core truths that have guided her life and career.
(e-book, audio available)

Hawes, Jennifer Berry
Grace Will Lead Us Home: The Charleston Church Massacre and the Hard, Inspiring Journey to Forgiveness
St. Martin’s Press, 2019
Recounts the events at Emanuel AME and the individual tales of strength and survival.
(e-book, audio available)

Crump, Ben
Open Season: Legalized Genocide of Colored People
Amistad, 2019
Prominent civil rights attorney exposes the systematic discrimination that has contributed to the legally sanctioned destruction of African Americans.
(e-book, audio available)

Gilliam, Dorothy Butler
Trailblazer: A Pioneering Journalist’s Fight to Make the Media Look More Like America
Center Street, 2019
Reporter chronicles her personal triumphs and tragedies amid her groundbreaking work at one of America’s preeminent newspapers,
Jarrett, Valerie
Finding My Voice: My Journey to the West Wing and the Path Forward
Viking, 2019
Political insider shares stories of her remarkable family and how she emerged as one of the most significant women of our times.
(e-book, audio available)

Kendi, Ibram X.
How to Be an Antiracist
One World, 2019
Author contends that society must shy away from ethnic identities and shift the focus upon the racist ideologies and policies of individuals and the institutions they support, in order for change to occur.
(e-book, audio available)

Levin, Josh
The Queen: The Forgotten Life Behind an American Myth
Little, Brown and Company, 2019
Con artist, scammer, possible murderer- this is the story of the infamous “Welfare Queen.”
(e-book, audio available)

Morris, Monique W
Sing a Rhythm, Dance a Blues: Education for the Liberation of Black and Brown Girls
New Press, 2019
A frank discussion about the educational system and how girls of color are criminalized.
(e-book available)

Reid, Joy-Ann
The Man Who Sold America: Trump and the Unraveling of the American Story
William Morrow & Company, 2019
Impassioned examination of the of the 45th president’s ideology, performance, and possible long-term harm to the country.
(e-book, audio available)

Williams, Thomas Chatterton
Self-Portrait in Black and White: Unlearning Race
Norton, 2019
Three personal essays about the role of race in human identity and Western society.
(e-book, audio available)

Gladwell, Malcolm
Talking to Strangers: What We Should Know About the People We Don’t Know
Little, Brown and Company, 2019
Discusses how we make sense of and discern the truth in our encounters with other people.
(e-book, audio available)

Perry, Imani
Breathe: A Letter to My Sons
Beacon Press, 2019
Author reflects on what it means to parent children in a society that she views as increasingly racist and unjust.
(e-book available)

RELATIONSHIPS

SPORTS & RECREATION

Edwards, Braylon; Tom VanHaaren
Braylon Edwards: Doing It My Way: My Outspoken Life as a Michigan Wolverine, NFL Receiver, and Beyond
Triumph Books, 2019
Former footballer shares highlights of his career and life as both an amateur and professional athlete.
(e-book available)

Iguodala, Andre
The Sixth Man: A Memoir
Blue Rider Press, 2019
NBA player shares his personal journey to basketball superstardom.
(e-book available)

Kamala Harris
The Truths We Hold: An American Journey
Blue Rider Press, 2019
NBA player shares his personal journey to basketball superstardom.
(e-book available)
NON-FICTION (con’t)

Kram, Mark
Smokin’ Joe: The Life of Joe Frazier
Ecco Press, 2019
A biography of the famed boxer whose legacy in American sports and society endures.
(e-book, audio available)

Odom, Lamar
Darkness to Light: A Memoir
BenBella Books, 2019
Former player offers a raw account of life lived with addictions, regrets and eventual renewal.
(e-book available)

Rose, Derrick; Sam Smith
I’ll Show You
Triumph Books, 2019
Basketball phenom writes about his childhood in a tough Chicago neighborhood, his career, and his often antagonistic relationship with the media.
(e-book available)

Windhorst, Brian
LeBron, Inc.: The Making of a Billion-Dollar Athlete
Grand Central Publishing, 2019
The financial acumen and power of star athlete is analyzed.
(e-book, audio available)

Mark Kram
Smokin’ Joe: The Life of Joe Frazier
FORTHCOMING TITLES IN 2020

Gordon, Ed
Conversations in Black: On Power, Politics, and Leadership
Hachette Books, 2020

Dickey, Eric Jerome
The Business of Lovers
Dutton, 2020

Hurston, Zora Neale
Hitting a Straight Lick with a Crooked Stick: Stories from the Harlem Renaissance
Amistad Press, 2020

Jenkins, Beverly
On the Corner of Hope and Main: Blessings Novel
William Morrow & Company, 2020

Kweli, Talib
Vibrate Higher: A Rap Story
MCD, 2020

McBride, James
Deacon King Kong
Riverhead Books, 2020

Moore, Jessica Care
We Want Our Bodies Back: Poems
Amistad Press, 2020

Mosley, Walter
Trouble Is What I Do
Mulholland Books, 2020

Owens, Candace
Blackout: How Black America Can Make Its Second Escape from the Democrat Plantation
Threshold Editions, 2020

Smith, Mychal Denzel
Stakes Is High: Life After the American Dream
Bold Type Books, 2020
THE MISSION

The Detroit Public Library enlightens and empowers people by providing diverse and dynamic pathways to literacy and learning.
DETROIT PUBLIC LIBRARY LOCATIONS

BOWEN BRANCH LIBRARY
3648 W. Vernor
Detroit, MI 48216
313.481.1540

CAMPBELL BRANCH LIBRARY
8733 W. Vernor
Detroit, MI 48209
313.481.1550

CHANDLER PARK BRANCH LIBRARY
12800 Harper
Detroit, MI 48213
313.481.1560

CHANNEY BRANCH LIBRARY
16101 Grand River
Detroit, MI 48227
313.481.1570

CHASE BRANCH LIBRARY
17731 W. Seven Mile
Detroit, MI 48235
313.481.1580

CONLEY BRANCH LIBRARY
4600 Martin
Detroit, MI 48210
313.481.1590

DOUGLASS BRANCH FOR SPECIALIZED SERVICES
3666 Grand River
Detroit, MI 48208
313.481.1707

DUFFIELD BRANCH LIBRARY
2507 W. Grand Blvd.
Detroit, MI 48208
313.481.1710

EDISON BRANCH LIBRARY
18400 Joy Road
Detroit, MI 48228
313.481.1720

ELMWOOD PARK BRANCH LIBRARY
550 Chene
Detroit, MI 48207
313.481.1730
FRANKLIN BRANCH LIBRARY
13651 E. McNichols
Detroit, MI 48205
313.481.1740

HUBBARD BRANCH LIBRARY
12929 W. McNichols
Detroit, MI 48235
313.481.1750

JEFFERSON BRANCH LIBRARY
12350 E. Outer Drive
Detroit, MI 48224
313.481.1760

KNAPP BRANCH LIBRARY
13330 Conant
Detroit, MI 48212
313.481.1770

LINCOLN BRANCH LIBRARY
1221 E. Seven Mile
Detroit, MI 48203
313.481.1780

MAIN LIBRARY
5201 Woodward Avenue
Detroit, MI 48202
313.481.1300

MONTEITH BRANCH LIBRARY
14100 Kercheval
Detroit, MI 48215
313.481.1800

PARKMAN BRANCH LIBRARY
1766 Oakman Blvd.
Detroit, MI 48238
313.481.1810

REDFORD BRANCH LIBRARY
21200 Grand River
Detroit, MI 48219
313.481.1820

SHERWOOD FOREST BRANCH LIBRARY
7117 W. Seven Mile
Detroit, MI 48221
313.481.1840

SKILLMAN BRANCH LIBRARY
121 Gratiot Avenue
Detroit, MI 48226
313.481.1850

WILDER BRANCH LIBRARY
7140 E. Seven Mile
Detroit, MI 48234
313.481.1870
Cassandra Smith Gray, President
Russ Bellant, Vice President
Jean-Vierre Adams, Secretary
Edythe Hayden Friley
Franklin Jackson
Ida Byrd-Hill
Dr. Iris Taylor, Ex-Officio

Jo Anne G. Mondowney
Executive Director